FIGURES OF THE WEEK.

The record of the week just gone is not one that the average Wheeling base ball enthusiast cares to think about, ball enthusiast cares to think about, but the Intelligencer gives in detail the figures brought out in the week's contest—and in the season up to date—for the figures are significant and show without equivocation just what is the trouble with the Nailer aggregation. This trouble can be summed up in a few words:

without equivocation just aggregation. This trouble can be summed up in a few words:

"Ineffective pitching on the part of the Wheeling corps of twirlers and a distressingly weak batting by the players who compose the team."

The Nailers have fielded better than opposing teams, making only seventeen errors on the week's play, while opposing teams made twenty-three, but as will be seen in the tabulated statement below, their batting average is only 210, while opposing batsmen thumped Campbell, Easton, et al. to the tune of 331. Even gilt-edged fielding will not avail if the pitchers are easy marks, and the men behind them can't hit out a few themselves. Just think of O'Brien going through a week's play batting only 188. Yet that is his record for last week and nearly all of the team were as bad or worse. Coyle's 320, Taylor's 331, Garvey's 133 and Hallowell's 500 are the only bright spots that crop out in the batting figures for the week. Bo far as fielding goes the locals are putting up a fine article of ball, and if they will ever get their batting clothes on for keeps, the team may be expected to climb up the ladder at a rapid rate. With two weeks on the home grounds, the opportunity for an advance is at hand and the "fans" will antidipate at least nine victories out of the twelve games.

Coyle's temper may not be angelic nor his pitching ability brilliant at this stage of the game, but when the Sunday Begister used the words, "Coyle has been playing a poor game at second the past week," it made a glaring misstatement, which in justice to the Wheeling manager should be corrected. In addition to batting to the tune of .220 in the six games of the week, Coyle played second bag out of sight, accepting thirtyone out of thirty-four chances offered, giving him a fielding average of .912. If this is "poor" work for Coyle, what designation will the Register give to Whaley's second base fielding average of .912. If this is "poor" work for Coyle, what designation will the Register give to Whaley's second base fielding

BASE BALL COMMENT.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Naliershave made rather a sorry record on the trip, the "fans" should remember that several of the games have been lost on close scores, and that the umpires have had it in for the team at every turn. In a letter to the sporting editor of this paper, one of the Wheeling players says that both at Youngstown and New Castle the Wheelings received horrible doses of umpiring, which took sill of the life out of the players. In this connection it is not amiss to wonder at the reputation Wheeling has unjustly made. Visiting teams always receive their due here—in fact the Wheeling crowd is noted for its openly expressed admiration for the good work of players of teams coming here. Yet, the papers on the circuit never tire of telling their readers what an uncivilized community Wheeling is, and how their relaters player who will not give the life to this libel, but it continues on its rounds just the same Of course these orloss never see the raw deals Wheeling test abroad. Their bindness is truly pathetic when the Nallers strike their towns. Notwithstanding the fact that the with St. Paul now. They are "Parson" Nicholson, on second base; "Jack" Glasscock, on first, and "Billy" George in the outfield. Aiready Detroit's sorry they let Nicholson go. Sammy Nichol, who was released to St. Paul by Karsas City, has signed with Detroit and is playing left regularly. He has recovered his batting abilities and is making ered his batting abilities and is make himself solid with the Detroit "fans."

"Tolly"Kane and "Red" Violet, old "Tolly"Kane and "Red" Violet, on Wheeling favorites, are putting up a good article of ball for Burlington, in the Western association, "Red" is playing second base out of sight and Kane is on the initial bag.

With Hallowell, Campbell and Garvey pitching good ball, and Truehart Tay-lor due on the first of July, the Nallers have fair prospects of cutting a figure in the Inter-state race. The pennant lan't won yet by a jug full.

Dayton is playing a new man, Grant, at second base, while "Pot" Rieman has been sent to the outfield. If Wheeling could get Rieman for second base it would be a ten-strike. The "tans" here seem to have lost their faith in Whaley. Not only is his fielding away below par, but his batting is poor.

Robinson, Gallagher and Frank Hal-Robinson, Gallagner and Frank Hal-ler, of last year's Wheeling club, have been released by the Atlantic league clubs with which they have been play-ing. Gallagher is one of the most pop-ular players who ever wore the Wheel-ing uniform.

When it has gone out of vogue to roast Claude Coyle, perhaps some Wheeling people will realize that the Wheeling manager is in reality a good all-round man. His work on second base last week was far and away better than Whaley's, both in batting and fielding. If Coyle regains his confidence—and it will come with a cessation of the unjust flings he is being treated to these days—he will pitch winning ball yet, and become as well liked as he is now unpopular. Give the man a chance. He has the stuff in him to pitch as good ball as the best in the league, and will do it sooner or later.

With twelve sames on the home

With twelve games on the home grounds, the Nallers ought to recover much of the ground that was lost on the trip just concluded. New Castle and Toledo are hard to crack, but Fort Wayne and Youngstown should be given a few falls, just for fun.

If Prof. Hinton would only be kind enough to invent an automatic umpire, the Inter-state ball public would arise and call him—most anything he wanted. Here's your opportunity, pro-

Pittsburgh is said to have expressed a desire for the addition of "Bill" Taylor to its base ball nine. Excuse ns, Mr. Pirate,but there's a town called Wheeling that won't let him go-possesion is nine points, you know, Brace up, ye Nallers! A few eleancut exhibitions of the game and the "cranks" will be at your feet and here's a tip—the base hit route is the shortest and easiest in the case of Miss Wheeling.

In position number 5 the weather is bad-but it's a gale at the tail end. That's a consolation, anyhow.

Hallowell may pitch in this after-noon's game. Hickman is stated to twirl for the visitors. It should be a great contest. Hallowell's performance in holding the leaders down to two hits in seven innings stamps him as a prize.

Easton's release seems to displease Easton's release seems to displease no-body, but Curtis has many friends who were sorry to hear that he had been al-lowed to go. They claim that he was always in the game, and that even though he had slumped in hitting, he had batted harder and fielded better than McGinnis. Curtis wired to Fort Wayne last night, asking for a berth. Curtis is a good player and a good fel-low personally, and should not find it a difficult matter to catch on.

And will Open a Two Weeks' Engage-ment Here this Afternoon. The Nallers came in yesterday afternoon from New Castle, and will open a neon from New Castle, and will open a series of three games with the Quakers this afternoon at 2:20 o'clock. Secretary Herrington was seen last evening and declared that the club will take every measure to strengthen the team and give the town an aggregation that will win games. Since signing Pitcher Halliwell, who did so well against New Quastle on Friday, the team has ooraled Outfielder Robinson, he of the home runs, who played here a short time last season. He is to report here to-day and will play in the game this afternoon. Eastongamed curtis have been released. Eastongamed unable to pitch winning ball and Curtis have been released. Eastongamed unable to pitch winning ball and Curtis had lost his batting eye. "It is extremely difficult," said Mr. Herrington, 'to strengthen at this time of the season, but we will make every effort to get good men and if necessary will have an entire new team—but that, of course, is not necessary, for with the addition of one or two players we will have a team the equal of any in the large Wright Monument. series of three games with the Quakers

The Harry Wright Monument.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 20,-The monument erected to the memory of Harry Wright, the "father of base ball" was unwelled in West Laurel Hill cemetery this afternoon in the presence of a large crowd of persons. Messrs. Reach and Rogers of the Philladelpha club, were the only league representatives present. Letters of regret were read from President Pulliam, of Louisville; Byrne, of Brocklyn; Von der Horst, of Baltimore, and Soden, of Boston, and from the veteran Jack Chapman, manager of Meriden, Conn. club. The caremonies were simple and brief. The orator of the day was Colonel John I. Rogers, who eloquently extolled the noble life and character of the famous manager and player. The monument is a bronze figure of Mr. Wright in every day dress, with his hat in the left hand, while the right hand grasps a pair of eye glasses. The figure is six feet six inches in height, and is mounted on a pedestal of granite seven feet six inches high, thus making the full height of the memorial fourteen feet. Amateur Here Hall. The Old Mald's convention to be given at the Opera House this evening by the Young Ladies society of the Presbyterian church will be a very interesting entertainment. A large number of young ladies take part in the entertainment, and they have been rehearsing once or twice a day for some time. Every character except the two men in it represents an old maid, and they do this to perfection.

They are powdered and painted and wear curis, carry band boxes, canes, crutches, unbrelias, kittens, dogs, birds, doughnuts, ples, cakes, snufr, chewing giasses, rabbits feet, and all kinds of devices for making them look young. They arrive in Martins Ferry from all parts of the United States, Maine, Californis, Texas, North and South Dakota, Kenucky and other states, and go into cestacies over each man they see.

They assemble in convention and many of them chatter like magnies, tell all about the men they have met and who have courted and jilled them. They deliver addresses, read peetry, sing, cry, laugh, sneeze, and quarrel about the men, receive new members, and initiate them into the mysteries of their association. A reporter who was refused admission is caught concealed in the convention room and fired out.

A professor arrives from Cheboygan, introduces his machine for rejuvenating old maids and the members of the association, including one old maid who has not had a birthday for forty years, are worked up into young and beautiful girfs, after which they have no trouble in catching men and becoming happy wives. given at the Opera House this evening
